For Immediate Release:

LifeMINDER™ Assistive Wireless Device Targets Improved Rehabilitation & Health Outcomes

Dallas, TX (PRWEB) November 9, 2005 – Following in the footsteps of Diabetech’s award winning GlucoMON™ device and the GlucoDYNAMIX™ system, LifeMINDER is Diabetech’s first product to go beyond the field of diabetes. By filling a void in the assistive device market for real-time wireless reminders and confirmation as an all-inclusive turn-key service, Diabetech continues to translate complex technology into tangible improvements by simplifying daily living.

Typical reminder services only allow the device to ‘buzz’ at the user. Some prompt the user via cell phone with a cryptic message. LifeMINDER serves the person with daily living challenges by reminding them of important and complex tasks including detailed instructions as well as asking them to Reply as a way to not only Record their specific actions but to automatically Report those actions to any member of their extended care team. We call this value-add ‘Automated Remote Confirmation’. LifeMINDER intelligent prompts are delivered to the user along with personalized reply options. In just three button clicks or less, the user confirms completion of the task and the device automatically sends a confirmation message to the appropriate member(s) of their care team. Only Diabetech’s LifeMINDER offers this unique brand of assistive technology in an easy to use wireless device.

With increasingly complex medication regimens and more aggressive goals for getting people out of hospitals and back to work, assistive technology like the LifeMINDER service has already proven itself as an invaluable rehabilitative tool. Diabetech works directly with people with disabilities and families with children who have developmental delays to ensure that they have the same opportunities to pursue independent and productive lives. Based on medical necessity and demonstrated need, Medicaid, State Rehabilitation Agencies and some private insurance carriers actually pay some or all of the cost for the monthly rental of this reminder device. Diabetech is a Contract Provider to the State of Texas Department of Assistive Rehabilitation Services. Contact Diabetech for more information.
